

Isaiah and the Great Commission

By Ian M. Hay

About the Author:

Long Before Christ sent His followers to disciple the nations, God Directed His servant Isaiah to reveal His eternal love for all the nations of the earth.

As a veteran missionary, Ian M. Hay's scholarly exposition challenges the notion that missions is merely a New Testament doctrine. He uncovers God's own mission emphasis through the Old Testament prophet, Isaiah.

Born of pioneer missionaries in Nigeria, Ian Hay is a graduate of Bryan College (B.A.), and Trinity Evangelical Divinity School (D. Miss.). He returned to West Africa as an SIM missionary in 1952 with his wife, June, and after serving in evangelism and church planting, his served in SIM administrative posts overseas and in North America. He was SIM General Director from 1975 to 1993 and is now General Director Emeritus.

As a mission leader, author, and conference speaker, Ian Hay continues to promote the idea that missions is timeless. God has always been concerned that all people know Him.

An old testament Study of New Testament Missions.

Contents:

Part I: The Man and His Times

- Isaiah, The Man and His Times

Part II: The Man and His Concepts

- Isaiah's Concept of God
- Isaiah's Concept of Sin
- Isaiah's Concept of Salvation
- Isaiah's Concept of Missions
- Isaiah's Concept of the Remnant

Part III: Missionary Messages Based on Isaiah's Writings

- Working with God
- Zion Haste
- In Times Like These
- Beautiful Feet
- Bread and Glory
- Arise, Shine
- To Set Men Free

Price: $25

